

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

GENERAL REVIEW.

SIR:—The mercantile record of the year discloses a business of greater volume than that of any previous year, while the profits from such business were exceptionally satisfactory. Not in any other year has a presidential campaign disturbed in a less degree the course of trade; and even though Chicago was the headquarters of national political forces, the financial, mercantile and industrial interests of the city were not seriously, if indeed perceptibly, interfered with by the activity of such forces. The explanation lies in the fact that business conditions and results were remarkably favorable and had been so throughout the preceding year, and the additional fact that existing conditions presaged a continued prosperity throughout the land, not only in our vast inland trade and home industries, but in our foreign commerce, and particularly in our growing ability to increase the value of our exports of manufactured goods. These circumstances and conditions were so assuring to the commercial mind that there was an absence of that public foreboding, which like a dark cloud usually appears above the business horizon during a so-called presidential year. While important issues were involved in the political canvass, there were no serious misgivings as to the future, and there was little hesitancy in pushing new enterprises or in securing ample financial aid for their prosecution. The list of overdue loans was exceedingly small and money generally was in abundance. The silver question was relegated to the archives of dead issues, and in fact there was absolutely nothing to create consternation in commercial or financial circles whatever might be the result of the presidential campaign. A large amount of capital was during the year 1900 liberated by the payment of mortgage loans throughout the west and by the liquidation of other forms of indebtedness. The surplus funds derived from the substantial prosperity of the great west found their way into eastern depositories and from there to a considerable extent were sent across the seas for investment. For the first time millions of American dollars have been invested in loans heretofore held principally in England and Germany.

Crops of the chief cereals of the country were abundant: the crop of corn aggregated 2,105,102,516 bushels, grown on 83,320,872 acres, valued on the farms at $751,220,034; that of wheat, 522,229,505 bushels produced on 42,495,385 acres, valued on the farms at $323,515,177; that of oats, 809,125,989 bushels, the yield of 27,364,795 acres, valued on the farms at $208,669,233; that of barley, 58,925,833 bushels, the product of 2,894,282 acres, valued at $24,075,271; that of rye, 23,995,927 bushels, harvested on 1,591,362 acres and valued at $12,295,417, aggregating a total production of the leading cereals, comprising corn, wheat, oats, rye and barley, of 3,519,379,770 bushels, produced on 157,666,696 acres, valued on the farms at the enormous sum of $1,319,775,132. Add to these figures those representing the crop of hay, viz: 50,110,906 tons, grown on 39,132,890 acres, valued at $445,538,870, and also of potatoes, viz: 210,926,897 bushels, dug out of 2,611,054 acres, valued at $90,811,167, and we have a wealth of food products, constituting the basis of our manifold industries, not equalled in any other land. The crop of these articles of the year 1899 aggregated 3,518,966,796 bushels, produced on 157,580,020 acres, valued at $1,179,731,716; of the year 1898, 3,411,689,787 bushels produced on 151,780,501 acres, valued at $1,166,138,821; of the year 1897, 3,225,933,361 bushels, produced on 149,713,169 acres, valued at $1,114,976,578; and of 1896, 3,512,970,185 bushels, produced on 147,993,527 acres, valued at $966,546,549. The volume of the crop of wheat of 1900 was 25,074,341 bushels less than that of the crop of 1899, 152,919,200 bushels less than that of the crop of 1898, 7,919,663 bushels less than that of the crop of 1897, and 94,545,159 bushels in excess of that of the crop of 1896. The average crop of wheat for ten years, from 1891 to 1900, inclusive, is 515,374,665 bushels, so that the crop of 1900 is only 6,854,840 bushels more than that average. The value of the wheat crop of 1900, as estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture, was $323,515,177, as against $319,545,259, the value of the wheat crop of 1899, $392,770,320, the value of the wheat crop of 1898, and $428,547,121, the value of the crop of wheat of 1897. The value of this last mentioned crop exceeds that of any other year. This was the year when Mr.

Leiter was interested in the market and for a time was its controlling and pre-eminent personality. The crop of corn of last year was estimated at 2,105,102,516 bushels, valued at $751,220,034, as elsewhere stated; as against 2,078,143,933 bushels, valued at $629,210,110, raised during the year 1899, and 1,924,184,660 bushels, valued at $552,023,428 produced during the year 1898. The rapid expansion of its culture on the continent of its probable origin, especially during the century just closing, has been, says the Department of Agriculture, one of the most characteristic features of the growth and development of the western hemisphere. Three-fourths of the entire corn crop of the world is produced in the United States. Statistics of production for a series of years from all countries for which such figures are obtainable, show that the world's production of corn, though exceeded occasionally by that of wheat and with more frequency by that of oats, has now attained such magnitude that in some years it constitutes in quantity the world's greatest cereal crop.

The corn crop of the United States is more than double in quantity than that of any other single cereal crop of this or any other nation of the world.

The commercial corn section of our country comprising the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, constitutes what is popularly called the Corn Belt, embracing in many respects that portion of our land endowed with the greatest natural advantages. The average production of this cereal in the United States during the five years, 1895 to 1899, constitutes about 90 per cent. of the average product of the Western Hemisphere and almost 75 per cent. of the average crop of the world. In Austria-Hungary, the second corn producing country of the world, and in Roumania, it is the principal cereal crop. In portions of southern France, in Spain, Portugal, Italy, Servia, Bulgaria, and in the southern part of Russia, it has become an integral part of agriculture. The average annual crop of the European continent for the five years ending with 1899 was 441,426,000 bushels, 10 per cent. of the average crop of the world. The commercial and economic value of this crop is better understood and appreciated than ever before. At the recent Universal Exposition at Paris an American exhibit of the products and by-products of corn comprised 45 distinct articles. Besides the many ordinary and well known food products made from this grain, this exhibit included such articles as cellulose made of the pith for packing cofferdams of battle ships, paper stock prepared from the shells of corn stalks, degerminated brewers' meal, feed of ground corn blades and stalks and cobs, varnish, cob pipes, lager beer, fancy table syrup, pop corn, British gum, salves, laundry starch, frumentum, gum paste, corn oil, vulcanized corn oil, oil cake, grape sugar, gluten feed, glucose, confectioner's crystal glucose and confectioner's paste.

The following is a statement showing the number of bushels of corn raised in the world during each year from 1895 to 1899, inclusive:

Our exports of corn have increased in value from $1,000,000 in 1870 to nearly $7,000,000 in 1900. The development of the dairy industry throughout the world and the discovery in foreign countries that American corn is a cheap and desirable food for man as well as for live stock have lead to a great increase in our exportation of this grain.

The crop of oats, as elsewhere stated, aggregated 809,125,989 bushels, and was valued at $208,669,233, as against 796,177,713 bushels, valued at $198,167,975 raised during 1899, and 730,906,643 bushels, valued at $186,405,364 raised during 1898. The largest crop of this grain ever raised in this country was that raised during 1895, aggregating 824,443,537 bushels; this crop was valued at $163,655,068, or $45,014,165 less than that of 1900. Illinois and Iowa are the banner states of this crop, the former yielding 133,642,884 bushels and the latter 130,572,138 bushels, valued at $30,737,863 and $26,114,428, respectively. The average price of this crop last year was 25.8 cents per bushel, as against 24.9 cents of the crop of 1899.

The crop of barley aggregated 58,925,833 bushels as stated elsewhere, grown on 2,894,282 acres, valued at $24,075,271, as against 73,381,563 bushels produced on 2,878,229 acres, valued at $29,594,254 during the year 1899; 55,792,257 bushels grown on 2,583,125 acres, valued at $23,064,359 during the year 1898; 66,685,127 bushels, the product of 2,719,116 acres, valued at $25,142,139 during the year 1897, and 69,695,223 bushels grown on 2,950,539 acres, valued at $22,491,241 during the year 1896. California, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and New York are the great barley producing states in the order named. The average farm price of this grain for the last year was 40.8 cents per bushel, and the average yield per acre 20.4 bushels.

The crop of rye for the year 1900, aggregated 23,995,927 bushels upon an acreage of 1,591,362 acres, valued at $12,295,417, a crop with regard to volume, acreage, and valuation almost identical with that of the preceding year. The farm value of this crop last year was 51.2 cents per bushel, and the yield per acre 15.1 bushels.

The crop of hay aggregated 50,110,906 tons, grown on 39,132,890 acres, valued at $445,538,870—less in quantity than the crop of 1899, but in value about $33,000,000 greater. The crop of hay of 1899 aggregated 56,655,756 tons, produced on 41,328,462 acres; that of the year 1898 aggregated 66,376,920 tons, grown on 42,780,827 acres, valued at $398,060,647. The principal hay producing states are, in the order of their production, as follows: Iowa, Kansas, New York, Missouri, California, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Illinois and South Dakota.

The crop of white potatoes aggregated 210,926,897 bushels dug out of 2,611,054 acres, valued at $90,811,167. The average yield per acre was 80.8 bushels, and the average price 43.1 cents per bushel. The crop for 1899 was somewhat large, 228,782,232 bushels, the product of 2,581,353 acres, valued at $80,328,832; that for 1898, aggregated 192,306,338 bushels, valued at $79,574,772, and that for 1897, 164,015,964 bushels, the product of 2,534,577 acres, valued at $89,643,059. The principal potato producing states are New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Maine.

The officially estimated farm value of the chief food crops of the United States, comprising wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, hay and potatoes, as computed by the National Agricultural Department, was $1,856,135,169, as against $1,689,986,735 in 1899; $1,643,774,240 in 1898; $1,606,010,365 in 1897, and $1,426,874,513 in 1896.

The final estimate of the cotton crop for the year ended August 31, 1900, by Col. Hester, Secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, was 9,436,416 bales, which, however, includes 525,000 bales carried over from the crop of 1898-99. The average commercial value of the crop is $38.55 per bale, against $25.08 the year preceding, and $36.76 on 1896-1897. The total value of the crop compares with the previous five years, as follows:

1898-1899.....	282,772,987
1897-1898.....	320,552,606
1896-1897.....	321,924,834
1895-1896.....	294,095,347
1894-1895.....	297,037,530
1893-1894.....	283,118,137

A noteworthy feature of this crop is its total value as compared with that of 1898-9, the largest crop ever made; for although over 2,000,000 of bales less, its value is over $29,000,000 greater. During the year there was an unusually large demand for American cotton goods. The United States consumed more raw cotton, leading Great Britain, which for a century or more has held supremacy by over half a million bales.

The following is a statement of the great wheat producing portions of the world and of the months of their respective harvests:

January—Australia, Argentine, Chili and New Zealand.

February and March—East India and Upper Egypt.

April—Asia Minor, Cuba, Cyprus, India, Lower Egypt, Mexico, Persia and Syria.

June—Alabama, Arkansas, California, Carolina, Colorado, Georgia, Greece, Italy, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Oregon, Portugal, South of France, Spain, Tennessee, Turkey, Utah and Virginia.

July—Austro-Hungary, Bulgaria, France, Germany, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Nebraska, Ohio, Roumania, South of Russia, Switzerland, South of England, Upper Canada and New England.

August—Belgium, Colombia, Denmark, Great Britain, Holland, Lower Canada, Manitoba, Poland, North and South Dakota.

September and October—Norway, North of Russia, Scotland and Sweden.

November—Peru and South Africa.

Of the volume of wheat shipped during last year, 26,577,243 bushels were shipped via the Great Lakes, most of which was consigned to Buffalo and from thence transported to the seaboard for export, although a large quantity of it was distributed throughout the east from that port.

The receipts of corn during the last year aggregated 184,663,-456 bushels, varying but little from the corresponding receipts for the year immediately preceding. The receipts of corn during the year were larger than those for any other year in the history of the trade. During 1899 the receipts of corn aggregated 133,776,-350 bushels; during 1898 our receipts of corn aggregated 127,-426,374; during the year 1897, 116,747,389 bushels; during the year 1896, 92,722,348 bushels; during the year 1895, 59,527,718 bushels; during the year 1894, 64,951,815 bushels; during the year 1893, 91,255,154 bushels and 78,510,285 bushels during the year 1892.

The largest quantity of corn received by any road during the year was that received by Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, viz: 30,910,300 bushels; the Chicago & Northwestern Railway, the Illinois Central Railroad and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway each received about 20,000,000 bushels. Over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, 12,419,225 bushels were received.

Receipts of all these grains were very liberal during the month of September and the first week in October.

The week of the largest shipments of wheat from Chicago was that which closed on the 29th day of September, when 2,305,409 bushels were shipped. The week of the largest shipments of corn during the year, was that which closed on the 21st of April, when 5,634,586 bushels were shipped. Shipments were very liberal between the middle of June and the latter part of July, running from 2,500,000 bushels to 3,900,000 bushels per week.

The number of cars of grain inspected in the City of Chicago during the year 1900 was 278,089, as against 291,989 inspected during the year 1899; 322,914 during the year 1898; 331,991 during the year 1897; 295,138 during the year 1896; 222,960 during the year 1895 and 204,408 during the year 1894.

The volume of grain inspected, received at Chicago by lake and canal, aggregated 5,408,503 bushels, as against 4,937,374 bushels during the year 1899; 4,741,869 during 1898; 7,091,160 bushels during 1897, 3,944,814 bushels during 1896; 4,294,138 bushels during 1895 and 2,270,931 bushels during 1894.

These figures show the constant and uniform increase of trade in this important cereal. As its uses multiply so does the demand proportionately increase; and a crop which a few years ago was considered an excessive one, is now, in view of a constantly growing export trade and the increased uses to which it is applied, not out of proportion to the varied demands of this great cereal. During the year 78,968,109 bushels were shipped from Chicago via the Great Lakes, mostly to the port of Buffalo.

The receipts of oats during the year aggregated 105,226,761 bushels, as against 110,775,732 bushels received during the year 1899. Of the total quantity shipped during the year 1900, 24,382,635 bushels were shipped via the Great Lakes, of which 16,163,281 bushels were consigned to Buffalo. The city consumption of this grain is very large, last year aggregating 26,000,000 bushels.

At the beginning of the year there were in store in Chicago 22,395,014 bushels of grain, comprising wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley. At the close of the year there were in store of these grains 17,514,305 bushels.

Of 140,094 cars of corn inspected, 46,563 cars inspected No. 3; 33,332 cars inspected "No. 3 Yellow"; 19,331 cars "No. 4"; 16,324 cars "No. 2"; 10,462 cars "No. 3 White", and 9,877 cars "No. 2 Yellow."

Of 78,383 cars of oats inspected during the year, 42,873 cars inspected "No. 3 White Oats"; 17,237 cars "No. 4 White", and 7,279 cars inspected "No. 2."

The quantity of grain stored in warehouses of "Class A", so designated by the Illinois Railroad and Warehouse Commission, at the close of the year, aggregated 17,514,305 bushels, as against 21,642,097 bushels upon the corresponding date of the year 1899; 11,706,912 bushels upon the corresponding date of the year 1898; 27,902,857 bushels upon the corresponding date of the year 1897, and 24,868,433 bushels on the corresponding date of the year 1896. The receipts of lumber during the year, aggregated 1,596,746,-000 feet and shipments, 769,451,000 feet; as against 1,692,581,000 feet and 736,701,000 feet, respectively, during the year 1899; 1,556,647,000 feet and 691,844,000 feet, respectively, during the year 1898; 1,406,580,000 feet and 574,743,000 feet, respectively, during the year 1897; 1,286,643,000 feet and 509,920,000 feet, respectively, during the year 1896; 1,638,130,000 feet and 773,-983,000 feet, respectively, during the year 1895, and 1,562,527,-000 feet and 632,069,000 feet, respectively, during the year 1894. Our trade in lumber during the last half a dozen years has been very uniform in volume. We received during the year 338,468,000 of shingles and shipped 244,276,000; as against 350,121,000 and 236,920,000, respectively, during the year 1899, and 293,151,000 and 267,920,000, respectively, during the year 1898. On pages 98 and 99 of this report may be seen tabulated statements regarding this trade made up by Mr. E. E. Hooper, Secretary of the Lumberman's Association of Chicago.

The receipts of butter during the year were computed at 244,385,190 pounds and shipments 208,536,699 pounds; as against 230,986,886 pounds received and 196,270,910 pounds shipped during the year preceding; 222,627,525 pounds received and 203,432,199 pounds shipped during the year 1898; 225,651,504 pounds received and 206,316,440 pounds shipped during 1897, and 237,795,243 pounds received and 222,004,126 pounds shipped during 1896. The principal feature in this trade was the falling off in the quantity exported, brought about by high prices in our own markets resulting from greatly improved industrial conditions at home. The quantity exported from the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, aggregated 18,262,238 pounds, valued at $3,142,378, as against 20,247,997 pounds valued at $3,263,951 exported during the year preceding; and 25,904,025 pounds, valued at $3,864,765 exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1898. The United Kingdom takes the larger part, by far, of this exportation. On page 100 of this report may be found a detailed statement of receipts and shipments, the lines of railway over which received and shipped and quantity received each month.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway brought into this market 89,586,700 pounds, and the Chicago & Northwestern Railway, 72,341,368 pounds.

The receipts of cheese during the year aggregated 115,383,740 pounds and shipments 47,160,035 pounds; as against 99,450,784 pounds received and 43,838,572 pounds shipped during the year 1899; 89,880,966 pounds and 44,986,370 pounds, respectively, during 1898; 84,790,975 pounds and 56,619,902 pounds, respectively, during 1897; 72,011,611 pounds and 53,639,937 pounds, respectively, during 1896; 59,012,937 pounds and 52,226,151 pounds, respectively, during 1895, and 53,622,983 pounds, received and 56,062,563 pounds shipped during the year 1894.

The particularly noticeable features about this trade are the steady increase in our receipts, the diminution in shipments, the improvement in quality and the increased local consumption. Formerly Chicago purchased larger quantities of cheese from the eastern and middle states. The dairy products of the west are constantly improving in quality to meet the character of the demand arising from decidedly favorable industrial conditions. On page 100 may be found tables showing volume of receipts and shipments by months and the names of the transportation lines over which received and shipped. The extensive export trade in this large dairy product does much to sustain and render profitable this industry which is prosecuted under superior conditions. Last year the United Kingdom purchased 44,021,088 pounds of American cheese, for which she paid the United States $4,452,578.

The receipts of lard during the year aggregated 60,632,245 pounds, and shipments 479,773,491 pounds; as against 62,834,052 pounds received and 505,834,067 pounds shipped during the preceding year. The quantity received during the year 1898 amounted to 65,083,445 pounds, and the quantity shipped 526,663,221 pounds. During the year 1897 we received 50,267,498 pounds and shipped 444,333,255 pounds. The bulk of our shipments during the year was taken by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, Wabash Railroad, New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad, Michigan Central Railroad, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, Chicago & Erie Railway, Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railway, and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway. The month of largest shipments of this article was the month of September, when 52,455,928 pounds were shipped. On page 42 of the statistical portion of this volume may be seen a detailed statement showing the quantity received and shipped each month during the year, and also the names of transportation lines by which received and over which shipped.

Our trade in this article is quite extensive and the demand is very uniform throughout the year. The smallest quantity shipped during any month was 30,701,715 pounds, and the largest, 52,455,928 pounds. The railroad which took the largest quantity shipped from Chicago during the year, was the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, over which were shipped 91,946,680 pounds.

The reputation of Chicago lard is not second to that manufactured in any other place, and consequently a large proportion of the exports of the United States of this article consists of the product of the Chicago market. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, the exports of lard from the United States aggregated 661,813,603 pounds, valued at $41,939,157, as against 711,259,851 pounds, valued at $42,208,465 exported during the preceding fiscal year; and 709,344,045 pounds valued at $39,710,672 exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1898. The larger part of our exports of lard was shipped to the United Kingdom; Germany takes on an average over 200,000,000 pounds per annum.

Of meats, other than barreled pork, the receipts at Chicago during the year aggregated 197,203,914 pounds and the shipments 791,021,932 pounds, as against 197,603,530 pounds and 863,363,437 pounds, respectively, during the year 1899; 229,005,246 pounds and 923,627,722 pounds, respectively, during the year 1898; 169,787,811 pounds and 837,630,339 pounds, respectively, during the year 1897; 151,931,671 pounds and 714,667,394 pounds, respectively, during the year 1896; and 172,203,523 pounds received and 698,210,341 pounds shipped during the year 1895.

These meats, of a great variety of cuts adapted to many markets at home and abroad, are shipped in large volume every day in the year. A statement of the volume of shipments may be found on page 43 of this volume. These shipments vary in quantity from 74,000,000 pounds to 53,000,000 pounds per month. The largest quantity was shipped via the Wabash Railroad, viz.: 106,360,000 pounds; the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway transported from this market last year 85,950,615 pounds; Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway 74,481,517 pounds, and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad 71,797,523 pounds. These meats constitute a large part of the exports of provisions from the United States.

The United States exports of fresh beef aggregated during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, 329,078,609 pounds, valued at $29,643,830, as against 282,139,974 pounds valued at $23,545,185 exported during the fiscal year immediately preceding.

The United Kingdom takes by far a greater quantity of American meats than does any other part of the world.

Our exports of bacon during the last fiscal year aggregated 512,142,398 pounds valued at $38,975,205, as against 562,651,480 pounds valued at $41,557,067 exported during the preceding fiscal year. A complete statement of receipts and shipments showing the various lines over which received and shipped, and also showing the volume of receipts and shipments during each month, may be found on page 42 of the statistical portion of this volume.

The receipts in Chicago of live stock during the year, comprising cattle, sheep, hogs, calves and horses numbered 14,622,315 head. The number of these animals shipped from Chicago during the same period aggregated 2,979,849 head.

The valuation of live stock received in this market during the year was $262,154,272, showing an increase over the valuation of live stock received during the year 1899, of about $28,000,000.

The number of hogs received during the year was 8,109,064; of sheep 3,548,885, horses 99,010, calves 136,310, cattle 2,729,046, and were received in 277,205 cars.

The area of the Stock Yards, where these animals were received and marketed, is 500 acres. The length of railroad tracks in this space is 250 miles; the number of pens 13,000. Within this area are 25 miles of streets, 90 miles of water-pipe lines, 50 miles of sewer lines, 10,000 hydrants, 5 000 incandescent lamps in service, six artesian wells with an average depth of 2,250 feet. The chief event in the live stock market during the year was the International Live Stock Exposition, held at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, December 1 to 8 inclusive, in which about 10,000 animals were on exhibition, to compete for 2,230 premiums, amounting to $75,000, and offered in upward of 600 classes of cattle, horses, sheep and swine. Chicago is the great central distributing point of the United States for pure breed stock of all kinds, and is the largest live stock market and meat supply depot in the world.

During the year 1900 the bonded indebtedness of the city was reduced $503,600 by paying $488,600 sewerage loan bonds, and $15,000 Town of Lake bonds. Water certificates to the amount of $500,000 were also paid. Judgments to the amount $211,595.09 were satisfied by cash payments.

The population of Chicago, according to the United States census of 1900, was 1,198,575 and as reported by school census, 2,007,695. The area of Chicago is 190.6 square miles. In 1888 the area of the city was 36.6 square miles and the population 802,651. On December 31, 1900, the bonded indebtedness of the city amounted to $16,328,450. On page 165 of this volume may be seen a statement showing the valuation of real estate and personal property, with the rate of taxation, for each year from 1857 to 1900, inclusive.

The total number of volumes in the Chicago Public Library on January 31, 1901, was 265,264 and about 50,000 unbound pamphlets. The Chicago Theological Seminary Library contained 20,500 and about 3,000 pamphlets. The Newberry Library contained 161,715 volumes and 65,834 pamphlets; the Art Institute Library 2,371 volumes; the Chicago Law Institute Library 37,157 volumes; the Chicago Historical Society 30,000 volumes and 60,000 pamphlets; the Field Columbian Museum Library 11,215 volumes and 13,713 pamphlets; the Armour Institute of Technology Library 15,000 volumes.

The number of arrivals and clearances at the port of Chicago, during the year, was 17,553, representing a tonnage of 14,186,100 tons. The tonnage of the vessels built in the district of Chicago during the year aggregated 21,210 net tons, comprising steel propellers Bryn Mawr, Cornell and Robert W. E. Bunsen, and two steelschooner barges, Madeira and Marsala, valued at $1,314,000. The vessel losses on the great lakes were insignificant compared to the number of vessels added to the fleet during the year. Forty-seven vessels were lost during the season, a large proportion of which were wooden craft of very moderate tonnage. The aggregate valuation of these losses was $534,300 and the aggregate carrying capacity 27,700 tons. In the closing year of the century there were built at the ship yards on the great lakes 125 vessels, aggregating 130,611 tons burden. A significant feature of the lake ship building is the construction of vessels adapted for ocean voyages. Of the 61 new vessels in the lake yards, 10 are of steel construction designed for oceanic service; 8 of these vessels built for Atlantic trade are of the maximum dimensions to permit their passage through the St. Lawrence canals, that is vessels of about 3,000 tons capacity. Two of the vessels for deep water service are larger, having a cargo capacity of 7,000 tons each. These vessels would have to be taken to the seaboard in sections and be re-erected at some point on the lower St. Lawrence.

WHEAT.

The volume of business in wheat was fully up to that of the year preceding, both in transactions for future delivery and "spot". The varying reports regarding crops furnished abundant opportunities for active trading. Indications at the beginning of the year favored a large crop and prices were in conformity therewith. The general opinion was that the crop would turn out fully 650,000,000 bushels, or about 150,000,000 bushels in excess of the crop of 1899.

Subsequently, unfavorable conditions were manifested and a change in estimates of the volume of the coming crop resulted in predictions of a yield of from 490,000,000 bushels to 525,000,000 bushels. Ravages of insects and severe drought brought about the reduction in yield. In Southern Dakota and in portions of Minnesota there was a great shrinkage. But the speculation which followed these untoward circumstances, although rather violent for a time, subsided at the end of thirty days and the market resumed its normal character. While the fears of a big shortage were growing more and more serious, the trade became wildly excited and the number of buyers increased on every hand. Many who never had purchased wheat or who never had become interested in speculative transactions, were drawn into the maelstrom thus created, and bought for future delivery under the firm conviction that soon $1.25 per bushel would be reached.

Under such influences prices rushed up to about 90 cents per bushel and at that point trembled, became uncertain and fell off. Then and for some time prices vacillated and one after another buyers dropped out at a loss, and before the market had recovered its steadiness prices ranged at from 73 to 75 cents per bushel. The range for the year was about $26\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel.

The following table shows the extreme prices in each year for thirty-six years, indicating the month in which such prices were obtained:

CORN.

Trade in corn was fairly active throughout the year and most of the time quite animated. There seemed to be a great deal of confidence in higher prices, but hardly patience enough to wait for their realization, and so in very many cases holdings were closed out either at a loss or a small profit and at prices that subsequently appeared abnormally low. The average prices were higher than for any year since 1895. The receipts for the year aggregated 134,600,000 bushels and shipments 111,000,000 bushels.

A strong feature of the market was a steady demand for feed to cattle and hogs at good prices ; indeed, in many instances more per bushel could be realized for it in this way than by shipping the corn to market. This imparted great steadiness to the market and did more than anything else to strengthen confidence in higher prices. Another feature which sustained this confidence was the small reserves in the hands of farmers and in "cribs."

The official visible supply of corn on January 6, 1900, was 12,613,000 bushels, as against 20,613,000 bushels on the 7th of January, 1899, and 38,421,000 bushels on the first day of January, 1898. The largest weekly receipts, were for the week which closed February 10th, and aggregated 3,368,191 bushels. The quantity in store January 1, 1900, aggregated 2,994,801 bushels, as against 6,672,752 bushels on the 1st of January, 1899, and 14,975,627 bushels on the first day of January, 1898. At the close of the year there were in store 2,083,659 bushels, as against 2,994,801 bushels on the corresponding date of 1899, and 5,706,415 bushels at the close of the year 1898.

The market during the month of January was one without material variation in prices. No. 2 cash sold from $30\frac{1}{2}$ to $31\frac{1}{2}$ cents a bushel, and sales during January, for May delivery ranged from $32\frac{3}{8}$ to $33\frac{7}{8}$ cents per bushel. The trade in February was fairly good and prices on an average were about one cent higher than during the preceding month. The market continued to steadily gather strength, and sales of corn for May delivery, made in the month of March, ran up to 39 cents a bushel. The course of trade during the month showed a gradual, uniform and steady improvement.

These conditions were maintained during the month of April and some sales were made as high as 42 cents for May delivery, closing on the 30th of that month at from $39\frac{1}{2}$ to 40 cents a bushel. During the month of May the speculative trade changed into sales for July and September delivery, principally during the month of September. These trades ranged during the month of May from $36\frac{1}{4}$ to $41\frac{1}{4}$ cents per bushel. The highest prices prevailed during the early part of the month ; weakness set in about the 10th and prices worked down to $36\frac{1}{4}$ cents a bushel on the 15th. Sales for July delivery on the last day of May were made at $37\frac{1}{8}$ to $37\frac{3}{8}$ cents a bushel. During the month of June sales for July delivery ranged from 38 to 43 cents a bushel, closing at from $41\frac{1}{2}$ to $42\frac{1}{2}$ cents on the 30th. There was an improvement in the demand during the month of July and sales were made for August delivery at as high as $44\frac{1}{2}$ cents a bushel. During the latter part of that month there was a slight reaction in prices and sales were made as low as $37\frac{1}{2}$ cents, closing however, at about 39 cents on the 31st. There was no material change in either the demand or values during the months of August and September. There was a limited business transacted in October, and sales were made for December delivery at as low as $34\frac{1}{2}$ cents. During the month many trades were changed into those for May delivery, and on the last day of October May sales were made at 36 cents a bushel. During the month of November, trade was very much the same, and May corn closed at $35\frac{1}{2}$ to $36\frac{1}{2}$ cents a bushel. During the month of December sales for May delivery ranged from $35\frac{1}{2}$ to $37\frac{1}{2}$ cents a bushel.

A continued demand at good prices for feeding cattle and hogs, maintained prices on the farm, in many sections of the country, relatively and materially higher than prices ruling at the great distributive and central markets.

Corn made a record without a parallel. At the close of the fifth successive year in which the crop averaged 2,000,000,000 bushels, and when one exceeding 2,100,000,000 bushels had just been safely harvested, the cash price in this market reached $49\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel and the near-by option of 51 cents. There has been an enormous increase in the consumption of corn during the last two or three years, and it is hardly yet realized that the old conditions regarding this crop no longer obtain.

The following table shows the production and consumption of the United States the last two years:

CONSUMPTION OF CORN IN UNITED STATES.

The early maturity of the new crop brought the corn into the market two or three weeks earlier than usual, and the readiness with which sales of new corn were made at satisfactory prices indicated that the old corn was well nigh exhausted.

The following table shows the extreme prices in each year, for thirty-six years, indicating the month in which such prices were obtained:

OATS.

The receipts of oats during the years aggregated 105,226,761 bushels, as against 110,775,732 bushels received during 1899, and 110,293,647 bushels received during the year 1898. Our shipments during the year aggregated 77,554,695 bushels, as against 85,982,204 bushels shipped during the year 1899, and 85,057,636 bushels shipped during the year 1898. There were no marked characteristics of this market during the year. The fluctuation of prices was within a narrow range, not in excess of about 5 cents a bushel on No. 2 cash lots. As in years past, there were several periods of almost total inactivity in the market and at no time was there a specially active trade. The quantity in store in Chicago at the beginning of the year aggregated 1,543,290 bushels, as against 1,488,161 bushels on the corresponding date of the year 1899. The official visible supply of this grain on the 6th of January, 1900, was 5,251,000 bushels, as against 6,402,000 bushels on the corresponding date of 1899, and 12,337,000 bushels on the 1st of January, 1898. At the close of the year the visible supply statement recorded 9,393,000 bushels, as against 5,694,000 bushels on the corresponding date of the year 1899.

Prices for No. 2 cash oats during January, 1900, ranged from $22\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel to $22\frac{3}{4}$ cents per bushel, and for delivery in May, from $23\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel to $24\frac{1}{2}$ cents. No material change in prices took place during the months of February and March. In April quite an improvement was noticeable but it quickly vanished and May oats sold at $22\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel on the 30th day of April. The market during May was weak and sales for July delivery were made as low as 21 cents per bushel. With but brief periods of improvement the market was a dull one throughout the year.

BARLEY.

The receipts of barley during the year aggregated 17,813,919 bushels, as against 15,849,710 bushels during the year 1899, 18,116,594 bushels during the year 1898, 17,195,744 bushels during the year 1897 and 17,496,381 bushels during the year 1896. The shipments during the year aggregated 5,739,009 bushels, as against 6,371,223 bushels shipped during the year 1899, 6,755,247 bushels during the year 1898, 7,717,351 bushels during the year 1897 and 9,767,708 bushels during the year 1896. During the year 13,518 cars of barley were inspected, more than one-half of them grading No. 4. At the beginning of the year there were in store in this market 68,786 bushels, as against 660,531 bushels at the beginning of the year 1899, 599,388 bushels upon the corresponding date in 1898, and 112,150 bushels at the beginning of the year 1897. In the official "visible supply" statement issued on the 6th of January, 1900, there was reported 2,210,000 bushels, as against 4,025,000 bushels January 7, 1899, 4,348,000 bushels January 1, 1898, and 4,403,000 bushels January 3, 1897. The crop of this grain produced in the United States in the year 1900, aggregated 58,925,833 bushels, as against 72,387,563 bushels in the year 1899, 55,792,257 bushels in the year 1898 and 66,685,127 bushels in the year 1897.

Last year's acreage was 2,894,282 acres, the yield per acre 20.4 bushels and the farm value per bushel 40.8 cents. Heavy rains prevailing at harvest time materially injured the crop, much of it being badly stained and field damaged. Still, the farmer found it a profitable crop, owing to a large export movement in 1899, which left but small left-over supply and resulted in a shortage for malting purposes. The low grades readily sold at 37 and 38 cents per bushel for feed, while selected and exceptional samples for malting easily sold at from 62 to 65 cents per bushel. There was a disposition to contract for deliveries in February and March on the part of maltsters, as in anticipation of a good spring trade, supplies were likely to be limited. The United States exports of this grain during the last fiscal year were small. For the calendar year ended December 31, 1900, 12,261,484 bushels were exported, valued at $5,688,178, as against 16,934,092 bushels valued at $8,220,608, exported during 1899. Our exports for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, aggregated 23,661,662 bushels, valued at $11,216,694. It was during this period that liberal shipments were made to Europe for feeding purposes and which account for the improvement in prices realized, in due course, for the crop of 1900. Large supplies of feedstuffs abroad prevented the usual volume of exports during the calendar year.

RYE.

The receipts of rye during the year aggregated 1,973,701 bushels, as against 2,793,476 bushels received during the year 1899, 4,935,308 bushels received during the year 1898, 3,388,651 bushels received during the year 1897, 2,530,336 bushels received during the year 1896 and 1,657,216 bushels received during the year 1895. The shipments during the year aggregated 1,223,796 bushels, as against 2,282,442 bushels shipped during the year 1899, 4,453,384 bushels shipped during the year 1898, 3,800,842 bushels shipped during the year 1897, 1,374,509 bushels shipped during the year 1896 and 1,168,252 bushels shipped during the year 1895.

The quantity of rye stored in class "A" warehouses, at the beginning of the year was 228,929 bushels, as against 451,027 bushels on January 7, 1899, 599,388 bushels on January 1, 1898, and 1,120,064 bushels on the 2nd day of January, 1897. At the close of the year 1900, we had in store 619,496 bushels, as against 228,929 bushels at the corresponding time in 1899, 434,766 bushels at the close of 1898 and 598,731 bushels on the 25th of September, 1897. The official "visible supply" statement, issued January 6, 1900, recorded 1,311,000 bushels, as against 1,386,000 bushels on the 7th of January, 1899, 4,055,000 bushels January 1, 1898, and 3,044,000 bushels January 2, 1897. The crop of rye, as published by the United States Agricultural Department, was 23,995,927 bushels which is very close to the volume of the crop of 1899. The average yield per acre was 15.1 bushels and the average value per bushel was 51.2 cents. Pennsylvania, New York and Wisconsin are the chief rye producing states. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, the United States exports of rye aggregated 2,355,792 bushels, valued at $1,442,055, as against 10,140,866 bushels, valued at $5,936,078 exported during the year preceding, and 15,541,575 bushels exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1898. Our exports during the calendar year ended December 31, 1900, aggregated 1,996,649 bushels, valued at $1,186,525, as against 4,868,331 bushels valued at $3,096,528 exported during the year preceding. Business in this grain was not active at any period of the year. The quality of the grain was inferior, occasioned by excessive moisture during harvest time. Foreign demand was small and indifferent, yet prices were fairly steady on account of small arrivals, the financial condition of the farmer being such as not to force him to ship grain to market unless prices were satisfactory.

A complete statement of prices of various grades may be found on page 17 of the statistical portion of this volume.

FLOUR.

Our receipts of flour during the last year aggregated 9,313,591 barrels, as against 5,800,130 barrels received during the year 1899, 5,316,195 barrels during the year 1898, 2,947,005 barrels during the year 1897, and 2,531,995 barrels during the year 1896.

Our shipments during the year aggregated 7,396,697 barrels, as against 5,421,548 barrels shipped during the year 1899, 5,032,236 barrels shipped during the year 1898, 2,736,211 barrels shipped during the year 1897, and 2,854,832 barrels shipped during the year 1896. The number of barrels of flour manufactured in the city during the last year was 1,274,776, as against 1,125,745 barrels during the year 1899, 1,037,442 barrels during the year 1898, and 1,188,442 barrels during the year 1897. Formerly this trade was almost exclusively confined to this board and the long array of sample tables upon which was displayed a great variety of samples of flour consigned to this market, have disappeared, and the flour commission merchant is a genus of the past. The buyer and miller are now in direct relationship, and in place of the commission merchant is the miller's salaried agent, going from place to place distributing flour direct from the mill. The old plan was neither profitable to the commission merchant nor to the miller.

The number of barrels of flour exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, was 18,697,825, valued at $67,755,963, as against 18,485,690 barrels, valued at $73,093,870 exported during the year 1899 and 15,349,943 barrels, valued at $69,263,718 exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1898. Comprised in the exports of flour during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, were 10,257,028 barrels shipped to the United Kingdom, 5,620 barrels to France, 691,782 barrels to Germany, 1,711,539 barrels to "other Europe," 573,012 barrels to Cuba, 1,115,164 barrels to the West Indies and Bermuda, 638,591 barrels to Brazil, and 1,410,534 barrels to Hong Kong. The range of prices during the year was comparatively small.

A statement of the prices at the close of the years 1897 to 1900, inclusive, is herewith submitted:

HAY.

The business in hay was quite satisfactory throughout the year. The shipping demand was good, particularly for fine grade "timothy," and the market was fortunate in having a corresponding supply of this grade. This feature of our trade together with a well sustained local inquiry, gave to the market a steady and profitable tone, especially during the latter half of the year. The quantity of hay received at Chicago during the year aggregated 185,621 tons, as against 208,000 tons received during 1899, and 223,000 tons during the year 1898. The change in freight classification of hay from the sixth to the fifth class, made a difference of $1.00 per ton to New York and about 60 cents to Pittsburgh.

The crop of hay, as estimated by the United States Agricultural Department, for the year 1900, was, 50,110,906 tons, valued at $445,538,870; the average yield per acre was 1.28 tons and the average of value on the farm, $8.89; the value in the different states was from $6.50 per ton in Idaho, to $18.70 per ton in Rhode Island. The State of Iowa produced more hay than did any other state, viz: 5,006,470 tons, Kansas came next, with 4,031,461 tons, New York following with 3,351,991 tons; the value of the crop of the last named state was $47,095,474. The exports of hay from the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, aggregated 72,708 tons, valued at $992,592.

A statement of the prices of hay which were obtained in this market during the year, may be found on page 97 of the statistical portion of this volume, embracing the various grades of timothy and prairie. Also, made be found on page 96 of this volume, a statement showing the volume of receipts and shipments of hay for the year, and also showing the lines of railway over which received and shipped.

SEEDS.

The receipts of timothy seed during the year aggregated 43,764,951 pounds and shipments 46,218,163 pounds, as against 66,233,991 pounds and 52,430,340 pounds, respectively, during the year 1899; 73,734,806 pounds and 54,330,625, respectively, during the year 1898; 57,079,591 pounds and 46,417,248 pounds, respectively, during the year 1897 and 61,772,523 pounds received and 63,368,857 pounds shipped during the year 1896. Of clover seed, our receipts for the year aggregated 10,393,821 pounds and shipments 8,812,802 pounds, as against 7,855,759 pounds received and 12,330,932 pounds shipped during the year 1899; 9,105,852 pounds received and 11,303,427 shipped during the year 1898 and 13,007,821 pounds received and 17,230,467 pounds shipped during the year 1897. Of other kinds of grass seeds, our receipts during the year aggregated 10,628,523 pounds and shipments 13,594,203 pounds, as against 10,136,159 pounds received and 11,318,254 pounds shipped during the year 1899.

In timothy seed the year started with a dull market, caused by the pressure of stocks left over from the former crop and the prospect of another large crop. Early in May, however, those conditions changed and a severe drought advanced prices from $2.75 per 100 pounds for September delivery, to $4.50; and the year closed with stocks considerably less than those at the close of the year 1899.

The volume of business transacted in clover seed was about the same as that during the year 1899, but prices ranged from 1 cent to 1½ cents per pound higher. The improved prices came with the new crop after the residue of the old crop had been worked off. This market has been gaining strength, though gradually, for the last two years. New crop prime clover seed sold as high as $10.50 and closed at $10.25 per 100 pounds. There was but a small portion of the receipts that inspected "prime," but prices of the various qualities were made upon the basis of the prices of the contract grade or prime seed. Fair to good seed sold at from 50 cents to $1.50 per 100 pounds, discount; and common to poor, at from $2.00 to $5 00 discount from extreme quotations for "contract prime." A complete statement of prices may be seen on page 91 of this volume. The exports of timothy seed from the United States during the last fiscal year, aggregated 15,078,186 pounds valued at $505,758, as against 16,149,611 pounds valued at $492,710, exported during the year preceding.

The exports of clover seed during the last fiscal year aggregated 32,079,371 pounds valued at $2,379,372, as against 19,980,434 pounds valued at $1,264,922 exported during the preceding fiscal year and 31,155,381 pounds valued at $1,892,101 exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1898.

FLAXSEED.

The receipts of flaxseed during the year aggregated 4,896,513 bushels and shipments 3,266,481 bushels, as against 6,616,626 bushels received and 3,093,943 shipped during the year 1899. The course of the market throughout the year was altogether anomalous. Prices for cash seed embraced a range of 54 cents per bushel. Fluctuations were violent in the extreme, producing an excitement never before experienced in the history of the trade. There was at times the wildest excitement and the rapidity of changes in prices was so great as to render it impossible for commission merchants to execute all their orders. Sales of No. 1 and No. 1 Northwestern were made at $1.86 per bushel. The nearest approach to these figures was in 1884, when No. 1 sold at $1.70. The range during the year was from $1.32 to $1.86 per bushel, as against a range during the year preceding, from 96½ cents to $1.51, and yet, under such unprecedented and spasmodic conditions, the trade was safely conducted, and emerged from them without impairment; it was carried on with remarkable ability and the unusual opportunities for a profitable business were improved with wonderful alacrity and shrewdness. The phenomenal advance was caused by a serious shortage not only in the American product, but in the world's supply, especially in Argentina.

American farmers who deplored the very serious curtailment of the product, were partially recompensed by the unlooked for high prices which prevailed until the new crop began to move in July. The quality of the new crop was greatly damaged by excessive rain during harvest and sellers of contract grades became alarmed and rushed to cover their short sales to such an extent that at times the market was panic stricken. Foreigners were active buyers in our market to supply their immediate wants until the time when the Argentine shipments came into their markets. It was not until the latter part of November that the market settled down to anything like normal conditions, with prices steady at $1.58 per bushel. Final estimates of the crop placed it at from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels, or about one-half of what at one time was thought to be the probable out-turn of the crop. The quality of the southwestern crop was good, but that of the northwestern was deplorably inferior. A detailed statement of prices for the year may be seen on pages 86, 87 and 88 of this volume.

The exports from the United States of flaxseed during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, aggregated 2,743,266 bushels, valued at $3,475,417, as against 2,830,991 bushels, valued at $2,815,449 exported during the year preceding and 257,228 bushels valued at $231,237 exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1898. The quantity exported during the year ended December 30, 1900, aggregated 2,715,206 bushels, valued at $4,258,767 as against 2,794,846 bushels valued at $3,525,667 exported during the year immediately preceding and 2,768,860 bushels, valued at $2,746,182 exported during the calendar year 1898.

As this trade is attracting increased attention and as the foreign situation is an important and a comparatively new factor in the conduct of this business, I submit below a statement showing the flax crop of the world:

Our exports for the calendar year ended December 31, 1900, as stated elsewhere, of fresh and salted pork, aggregated 166,491,322 pounds, valued at $11,368,181, as against 171,615,143 pounds valued at $10,331,620 exported during the year preceding, and 147,231,864 pounds valued at $8,827,365 exported during the year ended

December 31, 1898. Of the quantity of our exports during the last calendar year, 85,470,352 pounds were shipped to the United Kingdom, 10,338,611 pounds to Germany, 26,500,000 pounds to other portions of the continent of Europe, 7,995,376 pounds to Cuba, 2,324,200 pounds to Porto Rico, 17,242,110 pounds to other West Indies and Bermuda, and 1,643,205 pounds to Central American states and British Honduras.

The quantity exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, of fresh and salted pork, aggregated 159,145,229 pounds valued at $10,169,300 as against 178,507,564 pounds, valued at $10,639,727 during the year preceding and 100,357,363 pounds valued at $5,722,036 exported during the year ended June 30, 1898.

The trade in mess pork was active during the year both for spot and future delivery. The production at times was inadequate to the consumptive demand. Sales of "old mess pork" were made at from 50 cents to $1.00 per barrel discount from "regular." The well sustained demand throughout the year practically absorbed the supply and there will be an insignificant stock carried over into the season of 1900-01. I refer to pages 49 and 50 for a detailed statement of prices of mess pork during each week of the year; the highest price obtained was $13.25 and was paid on the 7th of April; the lowest price was $10.35 and was realized on the 6th of January. The following statement is submitted showing the highest, lowest and closing cash prices of mess pork in each month of the year and also showing the highest and lowest prices of the year 1899:

The business transacted in lard was larger than that of the previous year. Our packers sold a larger portion in tanks than during the year 1899, this mode of transporting lard growing in favor. Leaf lard was in active demand during the year, and sales were made throughout the season at satisfactory prices. On page 47 may be seen a statement showing the current prices of prime steam lard, per 100 pounds, in this market on the 1st and 16th of each month from 1892 to 1900, inclusive. On page 50 may be seen a statement of the range of prices obtained in this market for "steam rendered lard" each week during the year.

There was more speculation in lard than in any other provision product, and was ascribed to comparatively low stocks both in the United States and in foreign markets. The following statement shows the highest, lowest and closing prices realized for prime steam lard each month during the year; and also the highest and lowest price obtained each month of the year 1899:

The quantity of lard received in this market during the year was 60,632,245 pounds and the quantity shipped 479,773,491 pounds. A detailed statement showing the transportation lines over which received and shipped and also showing the volume of receipts and shipments, by months, may be found on page 42 of this report. The quantity of lard exported from the United States during the fiscal year last past, as previously stated, was 661,813,-603 pounds, valued at $41,939,157, as against 711,259,851 pounds, valued at $42,208,465 exported during the year preceding, and 709,344,045 pounds, valued at $39,710,672, exported during the year ended June 30, 1898. Of the quantity exported during the last fiscal year, 217,486,742 pounds were shipped to the United Kingdom, 195,595,578 pounds to Germany. These two countries are our largest customers for this product. During the year ended December 31, 1900, the exports of lard from the United States aggregated 609,473,372 pounds, valued at $42,033,597, as against 690,068,669 pounds, valued at $41,531,142, exported during the previous year and 736,636,222 pounds, valued at $43,440,170, exported during the calendar year 1898.

VOLUME OF RAILWAY FREIGHT IN INTERNAL COMMERCE.

The quantity of freight handled annually by the railroads of the United States is reported, in leading classes, by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The freight years are invariably given as fiscal years. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1899, the latest year for which figures are available, the originating traffic of 187,535 miles of railroad, is reported, according to this authority, aggregating 441,881,623 tons of freight. This figure does not, however, include unclassified tonnage and it is estimated that for the same year this addition would bring the total tonnage up to 510,079,200 tons. The products of agriculture constituted 11.33 per cent. of this total tonnage, the products of mines 51.47 per cent., the products of forests 10.89 per cent., of manufactures 13.45 per cent., the balance consisting of products of animals and "miscellaneous."

Next in importance to railway traffic, in our internal commerce, is the lake traffic. The lake commerce, as reported by G. J. Lydecker, Lieutenant-Colonel of Engineers, U. S. A., through the St. Mary's Canal aggregated 25,643,073 net tons, in the nine months ended December, 1900. This total includes 2,035,719 tons of freight carried via the Canadian canal.

In numerical strength the lake fleet exceeds that of the Atlantic coast and Gulf of Mexico by 151 vessels, or 55 per cent., and in tonnage 271,381 tons, or 42 per cent.

According to report of Assistant Engineer and General Superintendent, Joseph Ripley, relative to statistics of commerce passing through the American and Canadian canals at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., the American Canal passed 23,607,354 freight-tons, being an increase of 1,355,215 net-tons over that which passed through the canal during the season of 1899. Of the total freight, the American canal passed 92 per cent. and 62 per cent. of the total number of passengers; the Canadian canal, 8 per cent. and 38 per cent., respectively. The vessels passed through both canals numbered 19,452, as against 20,255 for the year 1899, a decrease of 803 vessels, or 4 per cent. The United States canal was opened April 19th, and closed December 12th, 1900; season 238 days. The Canadian canal was opened April 23d and closed December 16th, 1900; season 238 days.

Chicago, January 8, 1901.

To the President and Board of Directors of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago:

In accordance with the instructions from your Finance Committee, we have completed a careful audit of the financial records of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago covering the period from January 9, 1900, to January 7, 1901, both inclusive.

All the records in the cash book, journal and ledger were proven correct. The cash balances in the hands of your Secretary and Treasurer were checked and found correct.

Vouchers were presented for all cash payments properly approved by the Finance and Real Estate Committees.

We also certify that the foregoing report is correct in accordance with the records audited.

Respectfully submitted,

EVERITT AUDIT COMPANY,

JOHN EVERETT, President.

Chicago, January 11, 1901.

At the close of the fiscal year ended January 7, 1901, there were no outstanding bills. Cash on hand, $20,713.37. These results are especially gratifying in view of the fact that during the year unusual demands were made upon the funds of the Board for extra legal expenses, for expenses incident to the suppression of bucket-shops, and for expenses connected with the quarterly examination of grain warehouses declared regular warehouses under the rules of the Board.

The bonded indebtedness of the Board amounts to $1,240,000, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, viz: On June 1 and December 1.

Expenditures on real estate account, exclusive of construction and insurance, amounted to $50,326.97, as against $44,885.59 during 1899, and $48,191.06 during 1898; the amount paid for insurance was $2,112.77, and for construction, $2,937.63, making amount expended on real estate account, exclusive of interest paid on bonds, $55,377.37.

The amount of rental derived from the building during the year was $116,910.85, as compared with $114,176.43 in 1899, and $111,954.06 in 1898, and $110,251.94 in 1897, and $109,395.16 in 1896, and $106,648.60 in 1898. There is but one unoccupied office in the building.

The dues for the current fiscal year are fixed, in manner as provided by the rules, at $50.00 per capita. The dues for 1900 were $50.00; for 1899 and 1898, $60.00; for 1897, $70.00; for 1896, $65.00, and for 1895, $100.00.

The membership of the Association numbers 1803. The number of memberships transferred during the year was 327, yielding a revenue of $8,175, as against 165 transfers, yielding $4,125 during the year 1899.

Clearances of the Board of Trade Clearing House during the year amounted to $62,227,165.25 and the balances to $22,821,284.05 as compared with $58,366,800.51 and $20,597,677.54, respectively, during the year 1899. In the Annual Report will appear a statement of clearances and balances for each month during the year compared with like statements for the five years preceding.

The Board has uninterruptedly throughout the year continued its efforts for the extinction of bucket-shops; of twenty-five bucket-shop concerns which were flourishing in Chicago on the first of August last, but one now remains and this is temporarily protected by an ex parte injunction. As a consequence of the suppression of these concerns, many bucket-shops in other places have been closed.

Your Directory at the very outset of its duties took the position that the Board had a property right in and control of its quotations. This position was confirmed by the decision of Judge Tuley in the Christie Commission Company case and approved by the Appellate Court; and was subsequently fortified by the decision of Judge Kohlsaat in the Federal court and also by a decision of the Federal court in Milwaukee.

The Board has therefore a legal right to refuse its quotations to all persons, firms or corporations who desire them for unlawful purposes. Supported by these decisions, the Board refused, and still refuses, its quotations to any and all telegraph and telephone lines that will not expressly agree that they will not furnish such quotations to bucket-shops; and moreover, will not also agree that they will withhold them from any person, firm or corporation found to be using them for unlawful purposes; and furthermore, unless such telegraph and telephone companies will conform to such conditions and restrictions as the Board, in the exercise of its legal rights, may prescribe. No company should be permitted to disseminate our quotations without expressly agreeing to such conditions as the Board may exact, nor without paying the Board a reasonable compensation therefor.

We have but to resolutely adhere to this policy in order to place the Board in a position where its right to control its quotations will, in all future time, be unquestioned and unassailable—a position that will do much to maintain the standing of the Chicago Board of Trade, and correspondingly increase its power in the commercial world.

At present the Board is deriving a revenue from its quotations at the rate of about $10,000 per year net.

Trading in so-called “puts” and “calls,” as the same are defined and prohibited by statute of the State of Illinois, has been suppressed and our commission houses are relieved from the injury and annoyance which for many years were inseparable from their business transactions and which seriously impaired our influence as an Exchange and reflected upon the good name and dignity of the Association.

Regulations have been adopted and enforced providing for a periodical examination of all “regular” elevators and for an exact comparison of the quantity of grain and flax seed stored in such elevators with the quantity of grain and flax seed represented by outstanding receipts, as shown by the books of the State Registrar of Grain. These examinations have been made quarterly, but may be made at any time without notice.

Your Directory mindful of the injustice of that portion of the United States War Revenue Tax of 1898, that imposes taxes upon sales, agreements of sale or agreements to sell, any product or merchandise at any exchange or board of trade, or other similar place, either for present or future delivery, has made and is still making strenuous efforts, in conjunction with the other principal exchanges of the country, to have that portion of the law repealed.

The receipts of grain and flour in its grain equivalent at Chicago during the year 1900, aggregated 349,637,295 bushels; shipments, 265,552,246 bushels, as against 320,670,441 bushels received and 246,369,099 bushels shipped during the year 1899.

The number of cattle, hogs and sheep arrived in this market during the year was 14,386,995, valued at $249,047,023, as compared with 14,375,148 head received during 1899, valued at $219,514,831.

The shipments of meats and lard aggregated during the year 2,584,477,721 pounds, as compared with 2,550,172,030 pounds in 1899.

The year has been an important and busy one in our legal affairs. The suit of Kelley against the Board of Trade and its Directors to recover $50,000 damages for expelling him has been favorably disposed of, as has also the suit brought by Frederick W. Crosby. The chancery suits previously brought by Harry E. Wiley, the Michael Commission Company, the Consolidated Produce and Stock Exchange and the Union Deposit and Guaranty Company, in which injunctions had been secured prohibiting the cutting off of their quotations, have been dismissed and the injunctions dissolved.

The Christie-Street Commission Company of Kansas City secured an ex parte injunction preventing the cutting off of its quotations, but after a protracted trial, Judge Tuley dissolved the injunction and established the principle that a bucket-shop has no right to our quotations, and this important decision was subsequently approved by the Appellate Court. An ex parte injunction was also secured by Mr. Adolph J. Lichstern against the Board to prevent the cutting off of quotations, but subsequently, Mr. Lichstern abandoned his suit and withdrew his injunction.

The foregoing injunctions presented serious obstacles to this Board's resuming the collection of its own quotations, and it was only after all of them had been favorably disposed of that the Board was enabled to exclude the Western Union and the Post Companies from the floor and resume the control and collection of its own quotations.

The Board having fixed upon August 1st for the date of putting into effect its new regulations respecting the distribution of its quotations to bucket-shops, the Central Stock and Grain Exchange just prior thereto obtained an ex parte injunction, which seemed a serious obstacle to the Board, but this was overcome by the substitution of the Cleveland Telegraph Company for the Western Union Company and the Board was thus enabled to carry out its purposes on the first of August. Subsequently this case was heard before the Honorable Edward P. Vail, sitting for the time being as one of the judges of Cook County, and an unfavorable decision was given by him that the bucket-shop was entitled to the quotations. This decision, which is the only unfavorable event in our legal affairs during the year, has been appealed from, and it is confidently expected that this Board will ultimately win and that Judge Tuley's decision that bucket-shops are not entitled to our quotations will be re-affirmed and definitely settled.

Charles R. and Robert O. McLain, after they were expelled, brought suits for $100,000 damages against the Directors. No serious trouble is anticipated in successfully defending these cases.

A decision has been obtained from the Federal Court in Chicago (Judge Kohlsaat) upholding the property right of the Board in its quotations, and enjoining sundry persons in Chicago who were obtaining them surreptitiously. This has been a most important decision as under the injunction granted, all the bucket-shops in Chicago (except the Central Stock and Grain Exchange) have been stopped from using our quotations.

The Federal Court at Milwaukee has also rendered an important decision, upholding the Board's property right in its quotations. The value of these two decisions to this Board cannot be over-estimated. They furnish a key to the bucket-shop situation, and clearly demonstrate that by means of injunctions founded upon such property right, bucket-shops running on our quotations can be suppressed.

Mr. Frank D. Riordan, a member, recently obtained an ex parte injunction in the Circuit Court of this County, restraining the Directors from trying him for charges filed against him claiming that he was violating Section 7 of Rule IV, and subsequently another ex parte injunction was obtained in the same suit restraining the Board from disciplining him for failure to answer questions before one of its committees. This suit will be pressed to an early hearing.

Judge Tuley has rendered a decision in the case of the People vs. Central Elevator Company, declaring unconstitutional the amendments to the Public Warehouse Act adopted by the General Assembly of the State of Illinois in 1897, allowing public warehousemen to mix grain and store grain for themselves in their own warehouses.

Considering the many legal complications that have arisen during the past year, we close the year with the legal affairs of the Board in a satisfactory condition. The number of suits has not increased, a number of important ones have been disposed of favorably, and legal principles of great value to the Board have been judicially declared, while substantial results in the bucket-shop fight have been produced.

Your Board of Directors has persisted in preserving the inviolability of the rules of the Board, and in every instance where a violation of the Rules has been established the proper penalty has promptly followed.

During the year there were five members expelled from the Board, and eleven members suspended from its privileges.

No organization whose rules are not enforced can respect itself; and not respecting itself, it cannot be respected.

The prosperity of each one of our members and the welfare of this Board as a great commercial body, lie, to a very large extent, in maintaining the integrity of our rules without exception and without hesitation.

ADDRESS OF WILLIAM S. WARREN, PRESIDENT.

Fellow Members of the Board of Trade :

I regret that my vocabulary is too limited to express to you my high appreciation of the honor you have paid me by choosing me to be my own successor as your presiding officer. I trust there are none who suspect me of being so egotistical as to imagine that it was in any large degree my own merits which called out the remarkable and practically unanimous expression of your will at the present election, but rather your emphatic verdict upon the issues with which we are now confronted. One of the most prominent of these is the bucketshop fight and its resulting controversy with the telegraph companies over the quotation service. As this subject was fully covered by my recent written communication, and by the annual report which you have just heard read, it is unnecessary for me to take up your time by a repetition here; but to the few timid members who profess to believe, as they express it, that this controversy is "killing the Board," I would like to say a few words. The best of all evidence, the records of the Board, disprove their assertion and should calm their fears. But let us grant for a moment that they are right, what then? Only a short year since, they, and in fact all of us, were quite sure that bucketshops were killing the markets and the Board. The fact was quite apparent. Now which horn of the dilemma are you going to choose? Which method of destruction will you adopt? Will you go down in the clear blue waters of Lake Michigan, with the flag of decency at the mast, or will you be choked in the filth of the sewer by an ignominious surrender to a lot of gamblers and law-breakers?

Gentlemen, I for one will choose the lake if needs be. But no—a sober second thought will convince any man with a vestige of faith in the abiding principles of honor and decency, that a firm stand for what is right, just and honorable, and of good-report cannot in the long run result in aught but improvement and good to our organization and increased prosperity to its members.

There is not the shadow of a doubt in my mind but that the twenty years of acquiescence in, or, at best, but spasmodic and feeble resistance to the use of our quotations in bucketshops had debased and degraded us in the eyes of the public, the bench, the bar and the press, until by common consent we came to be regarded as all tarred with the same stick.

The decided change of front on our part in the past year has already borne fruit abundantly in the more friendly attitude of the press and the public generally, and the greater success in our litigations.

Shall we keep the ball rolling; keep up the campaign of education, or shall we fall back on the unfortunate record of vacillation and weakness of the past?

I trust there is but one answer to these questions. That having set our faces in the right direction we will press on to a realization of the rich heritage which is unquestionably ours if we but have the steadfast courage to demand it, and, if need be, endure a little and fight a little to obtain it.

If the history of the past year proves anything, it is, to my mind, that here is unquestionably and pre-eminently the great primal world's market for the producer, the consumer and the speculator.

Look at the record! Initial sales of 350 million bushels of grain and seeds by our members last year, while the volume of speculation is alone indicated by the records of the clearing house, $62,000,000 for the year compared with $58,000,000 in 1899, while the market value of our membership has increased 150 per cent.

All this in the face of predictions of those prophets-of-evil that the changes in our rules would drive a large part of our business to other markets and the balance lost altogether on account of the bucketshops' fight and resulting restriction of quotation service.

The one conclusion forced upon me is, that the firmer and more united stand we take for a high standard of commercial ethics, for legitimate trading methods, and for honest pay for honest service, the greater our reward is bound, ultimately, to be.

An all important means to this end is found in our rules as amended during the past year. Under these rules a loyal member would as soon contemplate committing highway-robbery as to juggle an order—he would as soon think of cracking a safe as bucketshopping a trade—he would attempt to pass counterfeit money as quickly as tender counterfeit grain upon a contract.

All loyal and well-meaning members will endeavor to keep within the dead-line established by these rules and not experiment on how far they can step over the line without detection. They will observe the spirit as well as the letter of these rules.

Others, if unfortunately we have such among us, must do so.

Among other pressing subjects demanding our attention during the ensuing year, may be enumerated the following :

1. The enactment into law of the so-called "Cullum bill," amending the Inter-State Commerce Law.

2. The repeal of the burdensome and unjust war-tax on sales which was borne without complaint while the exigencies of the case demanded, but being an emergency measure, should now be repealed—the emergency being passed.

Much effective work already done on these two matters from which your directors anticipate favorable results.

3. The lowering of the tunnels and other improvements to the Chicago River to avert the threatened embarrassment of our shipping interests.

4. The amending of the State Railroad and Warehouse Laws so as to correct existing abuses in the present public warehousing system, and so as to remove entirely from political influences the departments of Registration and Inspection. Certain unfortunate events of the past year, emphasize the necessity of the latter in no uncertain way.

A year ago I called attention to the fact that not a bushel of wheat leaves this market without private inspection. This is still true and should be comment enough.

That the Certificate of Inspection of the State of Illinois is not worth the paper it is written upon is not only a disgrace to the commonwealth, but a direct menace to the interests of every producer and dealer in grain.

These departments of Inspection and Registration should be strictly under the rules of civil service and under the supervision of this Board. * * *

Gentlemen, everything which I have suggested, whether already under way, or in prospect, we can accomplish if we only continue working together patiently and consistently for the common good.

We can make this Board and its business whatever we will it to be. But to show results we must keep "everlastingly at it." Remembering that in the universal economy there is no such thing as standing still. And that the moment we cease advancing we begin to retrograde.

I think we may fairly congratulate ourselves on the better tone—the improvement in the esprit-de-corps of our organization, which you may be sure has been appreciated to the utmost by your officers and directors in their arduous, and in many instances, disagreeable duties.

To this increased loyalty of our membership is due whatever improvement the record of the past year shows—not forgetting however that for our improved legal status we have chiefly to thank the wisdom and skill and faithful zeal of our Attorney who has practically devoted almost the entire year to the interest of this Board.

In conclusion I beg to tender my grateful acknowledgments and thanks for the uniform consideration and courtesy accorded to me during the year, and in confidently anticipating a continuance of the same during the year to come, I assure you I am already compensated in advance for any poor services I may be able to render you.

NOTE.—Prior to the year 1820 no official records of the arrival of alien passengers were kept. It is estimated, however, that the total number arriving in the United States from the foundation of the government to the year 1820 was 250,000.

Up to the year 1856 no record was kept of immigrants in distinction from the arrival of alien passengers.

Of the number of immigrants arrived during the year ending June 30, 1900, there came from Un'd Kingdom 48,237 Norway..... 9,575 China..... 1,247 Aus. Hungary 114,477
 Germany..... 18,507 Italy..... 100,135 Russia..... 91,157 Sweden..... 18,650

The total number of European immigrants for the last fiscal year was 424,700.

Of the total number of immigrants for the year, 304,073 were males and 144,499 were females.

The year ending June 30, 1882, was the year of the greatest immigration.

Owing to the absence of law for the collection of statistics in relation to immigrants by railroads, those from the British North American possessions and from Mexico were not included from July 1, 1885 to June 30, 1885.

NOTE.—Up to 1850 only the aggregate valuations in the several counties were reported to the State officers, and from 1852 to 1857, inclusive, a few counties returned only the aggregates; hence the details of real estate and personal property valuations are not complete for those years. In 1867 and 1868 the details of valuation are not entirely correct, owing to changes by the operation of the equalization law. Since 1868 the valuations are as equalized. The total valuations in each of the several years are correct and official.

The valuations for 1873 as equalized are largely in excess of any previous year. In 1874 some changes were made in the manner of equalizing the assessments, resulting in reducing all the valuations, especially those of railroad property.

The State debt, as noted, represents it as it stood on the 1st of January in each of the several years to 1869; in 1869 and 1870, as it stood December 1; in 1871, as it stood December 31; from 1872 to 1879, as it stood December 1.

Note.—From 1857 to 1862 inclusive, a lamp tax of half a mill to two mills was levied on certain portions of the city, and is included in the above total tax. The city debt as noted represents it as it stood on February 1 in 1857 to 1861 inclusive; on April 1 in 1862 to 1874 inclusive; and on December 31, since 1874. Valuations from 1875 to 1883 inclusive, are by the county assessment, as equalized by the State Board of Equalization, and in some of these years do not include railroad property. The city tax on railroad property for 1882 and 1883 something over $100,000 for each year, is not included in the above total tax. The above figures for 1880 include the districts annexed to the city of Chicago July 15 of that year.

*This total includes $13,641,267 railroad property.

NOTE.—The area details are those of the British Board of Agriculture, the acreage yield since 1884 also being official, prior to 1884 the yields were estimated by the "Times" Commissioner and other authorities. The imports and exports are the official returns issued by the "Customs." The population estimates are from the statistical abstract of the United Kingdom. Flour is converted at the rate of 70 per cent. The rate of consumption for human food is reckoned at 5½ bu. per capita until 1880-81; since that date at 5¾ bushels. The bushel is the Imperial measure.

ANNUAL IMPORTS INTO THE UNITED KINGDOM.

An official return of the direct imports from foreign countries of Wheat, Maize, Barley, Oats and Wheaten Flour into each port of the United Kingdom during the calendar year 1900 and preceding four years.

(Furnished by the Board's special foreign correspondent, Mr. George J. S. Broomhall, Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society.)
